I'm well aware that there is a general rule about not disturbing wildlife - but I've got a bit of a stumper about two sites, one of which has SSSI status and the other which has no designation. The sites are: ELTON BUS DRIVE &

Is there any reason I shouldn't be able to access these sites? A:

ELTON BUS DRIVE AND CENTRAL DRIVE are on private land. Normally, you cannot go on private land without permission.

Anyone can put up posts on their private land in an effort to advertise their private property for sale or for other reasons. This is legal and you are free to go on these posts, as long as they don't try to stop you. On one of the posted signs, it says: No trespassing. This probably means that if they didn't want you there, they would have left a stop sign or something else to stop anyone from going on their private property. It's better to be courteous if you are going to be on someone else's land, even if you are on 6a5afdab4c

For more than three decades, we have given billions of dollars in United States tax dollars to these murderous regimes and their enablers. That should be reason enough to prosecute the culprits under the Logan Act and the Crimes Against the United States and their citizens. But as I have explained many times in the pages of The New American, there is an equal and opposite problem, which is that if we prosecute these war criminals, we would be convicted of the crime ourselves. Our Founding Fathers understood that we the people, through our vote, make our leaders. But when our leaders are criminals, we the people lose our inherent power. And that is exactly what is happening in the Ukraine right now. Our elected president, with the approval of his government, should never have been involved in Ukraine, and he certainly should not have been doing it in secret without our knowledge and consent, but he did. Now he is getting caught red-handed, with the firm support and complicity of his Democrat Party supporters in the government. Without Hillary Clinton's support, he never would have had a chance at winning the 2016 election. And just as importantly, he did not and does not want to defend Ukraine.
