Biography Olga Konstantinovna Desyatnikov was born in the village of Ismailovo in Tula Governorate, Russian Empire (now in Russia), where her father, Konstantin Konstantinovich, was the Russian Consul-General. She grew up in poverty. Her father was a member of the Stolypin reform commission, and a close friend of Alexander Izvolsky, a post-emperor, Stolypin's successor as Russian prime minister. In 1892 her father became a member of the Imperial Russian Geographic Society. In 1889, she graduated from the 3rd Gymnasium of Chikhachevsky in Saint Petersburg and married a journalist named Vladimir Vitali, who was the correspondent for a French newspaper. However, her husband, in his letters to his mother, began
